A blessed time of the year: By now, we are almost back to reality in our everyday lives and also in the life of the cathedral. We are still using the reduced form of newsletter because the cathedral activities are not yet up and running, but by the end of January even the newsletter will have returned to its regular format.

The cathedral looks wonderful again in her noble simplicity, the decorations have been packed away, and the flower group has lowered their tone for a bit until the next great feast of Easter. I pray that, as you pack away your crib scenes and decorations, you can reflect on an Advent well spent and a Christmas well celebrated. Hopefully you were moved by the child Jesus and allowed the miracle of his incarnation to fill your homes and hearts with his peace.

This is a blessed time of the year and one that I enjoy - we have approximately a month until Lent, the days start to get slightly longer every day and our garden is going to reap the benefits of all of Rachel's hard work (along with her volunteers) as we slowly start to see it come into bloom. The liturgy falls back into its rhythmic pace, and it becomes a time when we can all, hopefully, catch our breaths and plan for the year ahead.

There will be much happening at the cathedral this year as we, as a diocese, celebrate our 50th year of being formed. Whilst this will be a diocesan-wide celebration, the cathedral community will host a number of events and celebrations to welcome this happy year. May it be a year of joy and celebration for each one of us - but, in the meantime, let us enjoy these five weeks of Ordinary Time before we enter into Lent.
